

The art of Guiding

For top-level professionals

Using your intuition in life and work

Accessing the power of your intuition

We all use intuition in our professional lives. Since this usually occurs instinctively, most people are unaware of having utilized their inner wisdom.

Yet by acting on inspirational flashes of insight and understanding people achieve great things in all venues of work and life: from innovations in technology and science to the arts and humanities.

This is undeniable power of intuition.

The Art of Guiding is a unique training programme that allows you to expand and utilise your inner wisdom.

In a world where time is increasingly precious and access to information is virtually unlimited, the rapid cognition facilitated by this course is a powerful asset.

The State of Guiding

Throughout the course, skilled trainers work with you to bring you to the State of Guiding – a state that is complete and in which all the sources you learn to draw upon become internally integrated and united.

The intuitive skills that you unlock and develop will become a major element of your Guiding skills.

The State of Guiding involves:

- Being more highly aware
- Letting go of routine and fixed methodologies
- Complete acceptance of others
- An intuitive choice for interventions that will surprise and delight you
- Utilising your own sources of creativity and authenticity
- Being able to summon and channel the power of higher energy flow
- Accessing and integrating your highly “evolved self”

The essence of this international programme

Absolutely committed to your personal development and their own, the trainers work in tandem with you to create a Personal Log and Work Book for Guiding. This will contain an explanation of the course content, background information, exercises, personal experiences and individual methods for Guiding. The actual training methods are step-by-step and interactive, enabling you to learn by experience. This logical and systematic approach to the State of Guiding teaches you how to achieve a synthesis of personality and being. Group sessions are another important facet of the programme, where you practice Guiding techniques with your fellow delegates. Upon completion of the course, you will receive certification as a Guide.

Participants

The Art of Guiding is designed for top-level professionals who wish to hone their intuitive skills, and impart these capabilities to the people they work with.

The training can also be delivered as an in-house corporate development programme.

About the Guides

Thea Groeneveld is a partner in Geuzinge & Groeneveld, and co-founder and principal associate of Associates for Corporate Change (ACC). She is an organisational consultant and management coach. Her life and work are strongly based on the art of intuition, and on the principals of Guiding.

Annemarie Noordzij is director of Balance plc. Since 1991, she has worked as an advisor, coach and trainer. Annemarie guides both groups and individuals.

Willem Wanrooij has more than 25 years experience in coaching change processes within organisations. He is involved in advising and implementing organisational development projects in business and government offices. Willem is also co-founder and principal associate of ACC: Associates for Corporate Change.

Steven Goldstone is an internationally recognised trainer of Ericksonian Hypnosis (modern) and Classical Hypnosis. He is also a certified trainer of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) and Psychogenics. Steven is the founder (1982) and director of Synergy Hypnosis and Counselling Services in New York City. He is specialized in creativity counseling.

Rudi Koegler is a visual artist. He lives and works at the Waver, where he draws his artistic inspiration from the polder landscape and natural environment. When Rudi observes people and the space they exist in, emotions are called up within him.
